

Course Rep Role Description

Course Reps represent students on their course. They play a key role in students having a voice about things that matter to them, to have an impact on improving academic practices.

Course Reps find out about other students' academic issues and pass this information on to University staff and Hull University Students' Union's President of Education so that they can enhance university education in Hull.

Aim:

Course Reps are responsible for gathering feedback from other students on their course. They attend Student-Staff Forums to pass on issues that need addressing and examples of good practice to academic staff and then share progress with fellow students to close the loop.

Key Responsibilities:

- Attend Hull University Students' Union Course Rep training;
- Regularly gather feedback from other students on their course;
- Represent students' views to University staff at Student-Staff Forums;
- Meet with other Course Reps to discuss issues;
- Attend Education Zone Open Meetings to share feedback and impact with other Reps and the President of Education;
- Share updates and news from academic staff and Hull University Students' Union with other students.

Skills and Experience You Can Use and Develop:

- Communication skills;
- Networking with academic staff;
- Confidence;
- Lobbying the University for change;
- Problem-solving;
- Research and evaluation.

Benefits:

- Gain transferable employability skills;
- Learn about the University and Hull University Students' Union;
- Influence University policy and decision making.

Time Commitment:

On average, you will spend 1-2 hours per week on this role. However, some weeks will be busier than others.
